

Sculthorpe volunteers building the greenhouse which will be the centre of the new community garden.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT:

Gardening as a group benefits mental and physical well-being. Give your team a chance to get digging!

ENGAGE & SUPPORT STAFF: Motivating and showing appreciation to your team has never been more important. Visits to the reserve reduces stress levels and builds confidence.

Join like-minded friends for an afternoon's guided birdwatching on the reserve

Brand exposure on our extensive social media accounts, celebrating your contribution to the reserve.

BRAND EXPOSURE:

Being a good corporate citizen matters to your clients and customers. Volunteering for a charity demonstrates your commitment perfectly.

WELL-BEING: There is plenty of evidence that being in the open air and close to nature boosts feelings of well-being. Get the team away from their screens for a day!

Membership cards encourage your staff to bring their families to enjoy the benefits of being outdoors together.

Our Four Key Areas are:
CONSERVATION, EDUCATION, RESEARCH, and running our NATURE RESERVES

Join forces with Hawk and Owl Trust.

We have a long history of delivering projects on time and on budget, and we rely heavily on our wonderful team of volunteers. Your company can join this group! We will work hard to understand your company's needs, we are also experienced in working with partners to create memorable campaigns with all-round benefits.

We will work with you to understand your needs, to build tailored objectives, and work closely with you to deliver mutual benefits and achieve your aims.

We can also help give your story greater exposure, by engaging our extensive membership and wide supporter base.

Become a Corporate Member

Join the Hawk and Owl Trust as a corporate supporter. We have lots to offer in terms of employee well-being, volunteering opportunities, advising on how to make your place of work more wildlife friendly and encouraging people to understand more about our conservation work.

What we do: The Hawk and Owl Trust's primary aim is to conserve wild birds of prey and their habitats. We believe that conservation is a social process guided by science. We enhance public understanding and appreciation of raptors. Education is also an important part of our work and over 3,000 schoolchildren visit the reserve for outdoor lessons.

Why you should join: Join the Hawk and Owl Trust to show your company's commitment to supporting wildlife at Sculthorpe Moor Community Nature Reserve. Corporate support will help your company to meet its Corporate Social Responsibility objectives.

MERLIN (1-20 staff)

The tiny Merlin is our smallest falcon and bird of prey. It breeds on wild mountain and moorland, but in winter many move into the lowlands. Merlins can, occasionally, be seen hunting for small birds over the reserve at Sculthorpe.

KESTREL (21-50 staff)

Kestrels are our most familiar falcon. They are frequently seen hovering by the side of roads, leading to their nickname of 'Windhover'. Feeding mostly on insects and small mammals, Kestrels make their home at Sculthorpe.

PEREGRINE (more than 50 staff)

The Peregrine, famed for its speed and power, is our largest falcon. Once a bird of wild places, they have found our cities much to their liking. A pair nesting on Norwich Cathedral can be followed on web cam and at the cathedral.
